

State of the Climate: New Jersey 2023

Anthony Quintano, CC BY 2.0 DEED

July 10, 2024, 11:00am – 12:15pm

This virtual event is free and open to the public. Registration is required.

Register Now

Join us for a review of our annual report – State of the Climate: New Jersey 2023 – a summary of current scientific information on climate trends and projections in New Jersey.

The report provides an overview of outstanding 2023 weather events, followed by an in-depth analysis of historical climate data and future projections for New Jersey.

The authors focus on temperature, sea-level rise, precipitation, and extreme events, including a discussion of the summer 2023 Canadian wildfires that impacted air quality throughout New Jersey and how wildfires may be exacerbated with continued climate change.

PRESENTED BY:

James Shope

Extension Specialist in Climate Services

David Robinson

New Jersey State Climatologist

Anthony Broccoli

Distinguished Professor of Atmospheric Science

Lori Garzio

Research Analyst, Department of Marine and Coastal Sciences